DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Swanson et al (5,987,459).

Regarding method, apparatus and computer claims 1, 10 and 18 Swanson discloses,

Examining one or more images in a database for one or more first compression patterns (note fig. 2, 32 and col. 3 lines 12-13, data collection is the examined image);

Recording said first compression patterns (note col. 4 lines 1-6, coding techniques determines compression patterns which is code word);

Obtaining a request for said one or more output images (note col. 4 lines 9-15, query request search for image); and

Obtaining said output images using said first compression patterns (note col. 4 lines 17-22, reconstructing of file examiner interprets as obtaining output).

Regarding method, apparatus and computer program claims 2, 11 and 19 Swanson discloses,

Obtaining a text input (note fig. 2, 32 image is an image or text input);

Locating one or more of said first compression patterns associated with said text input (note query search col. 4 lines 9-150; and

Obtaining said output images associated with said first compression patterns (decoder col. 4 lines 17-22 obtains output).

Regarding method, apparatus and computer program claims 3, 12 and 20 Swanson discloses,

Obtaining an input image (note fig. 6, block 82 shows input image);

Determining one or more second compression patterns in said input image (note fig. 6 block 134, shows plurality of images, thus a first and second image can be determined);

Comparing said second compression pattern to said first compression patterns (image is compared in the coding steps); and

Obtaining said output images wherein said second compression patterns are matched with said first compression patterns (resulting in output image).

Regarding method, apparatus and computer program claims 4, 13 and 21 Swanson discloses,

Dividing said images into one or more blocks (note col. 10 lines 15-18, wavelet transform divides the image into blocks); and

Obtaining said first compression patterns by examining said blocks (component of block is obtained).

Regarding method, apparatus and computer program claims 5, 14 and 22 Swanson discloses,

Wherein said first compression patterns comprise one or more transform codes (note col. 10 lines 25-30, examiner interpret pattern comprising code words to meet limitations)

Regarding method, apparatus and computer program claims 6, 15 and 23 Swanson discloses,

Applying a latent variable modeling technique to obtain said transform codes (fig. 6 block 98, wavelet coding similar to variable modeling).

Regarding method, apparatus and computer program claims 7, 16 and 24 Swanson discloses,

Wherein said latent variable modeling is a Gaussian latent variable modeling (note col. 8 lines 23-28).

Regarding method, apparatus and computer program claims 8, 17 and 25 Swanson discloses,

Applying a Bayes decision rule (note prob. of occurrence image fig. 6, Bayes modeling is merely a probability function).

Regarding method and computer program claims 9 and 26 Swanson discloses, Placing said first compression patterns in a dictionary (note col. 10 lines38, 47 and 55 defines coder dictionary).
